OPENING REMARKS

If you read this ebook to the end, I promise it'll be the best compressed AUTOBIOGRAPHY you'll read this year.

Autobiography is the story of a person's life written by himself. I wrote this myself.

To begin with, if my parents had given me an English name at birth, I would've thrown it away by now.

Why?

Read on to find out.

DEDICATION

First of all, a zillion vote of thanks to one woman who dared to dream with wide-open eyes: my mum, Daada Alice Ibekwe. She's the major reason why I was able to give (academic) life a wide toothy smile, against all odds!

Second, a million thanks to Professor Charles E. Nnolim, Nigerian National Order of Merit (NNOM) Award-winner, for writing the best FOREWORD ever.

In the foreword, he said:

"This book is a motivational work that is summarizable under the Latin adage: ad astra per ardua (to the stars through hard work).

It is what many a struggling youth needs to stay focused.

Indeed, this contemporary motivational book is a must read!"

CHAPTER ONE

THIS IS MY STORY

Hello friends and family, Dr Mazi Eze here!

I want to tell you a simple story. The story is about ME.

ME is an acronym or short form for Mazi Eze.

Now you're asking, "Why should I listen to you, ME?"

You're wondering why you should listen to my story.

First, I'm a fascinating storyteller. Trust me.

Plus, I'm an English teacher at a university.

Awesome.

I'm an English Grammar Coach by profession.

I'm a radio presenter by inclination.

I'm a Public Speaking Coach by passion.

This is a life story of how my mum borrowed
₦5,550 so I could go to university.

To start with, who is ME?

Like I said, ME is a short form for Mazi Eze who's a work in progress, a product of grace, one little boy whom God decided to show great mercy!

Once upon a time, I had a dream that I'd become a lecturer at University of Port Harcourt (UniPort).

I attended and graduated from University of Port Harcourt on borrowed money. Today, I'm a lecturer in that same university.

Read that again!
